

Jane Hampson

Professional Learning Consultant

Jane has been an energetic educator in 5 different countries during the last 30 years. She has taught in the Primary, Middle School, High School and Tertiary sectors and in three different International Schools. She has also been an International Baccalaureate workshop leader and has run workshops in Australia, India and China. Jane thrives on working with teachers and leaders to support them in their drive to provide the best learning opportunities for their students. She has a particular interest in working alongside students to promote their confidence and understanding of how to become life-long learners.