Professional Learning Consultant

Jen has over 33 years experience as a classroom practitioner and middle management leader in several Australian independent schools and in the International sector. She has held curriculum and pastoral leadership roles in Turkey, Tanzania and China, and most recently in one of Melbourne's leading independent schools. She has a particular interest in working with students and fellow educators to embrace evidence-based pathways to activate student engagement and efficacy. Jen advocates for the power of a positive student-teacher relationship and recognizes that learning for students, teachers and schools is a journey best approached via a growth mindset and small steps taken together.
