

Jenny Sesta

Professional Learning Consultant

Jenny has worked extensively in both system-wide and school-wide professional learning and school improvement nationally. As a member of the Corwin Professional Learning team she achieved Master Training accreditation and has authored several professional learning sessions. Jenny has a particular passion for developing instructional approaches that have the most significant impact on students' efficacy, agency and their learning identity. As a postgraduate student Jenny's research is focused on how educators can use research to design literacy pedagogy that is founded on principles of inclusion and equity.
