

Louise Griffin

Professional Learning Coordinator (Communications)

Louise has 20 years experience in the book publishing industry, where she worked closely with marketing and sales as well as managing a number international publishers.

Over the past ten years she has worked with public libraries, universities and school libraries in the Acquisition department of a busy library services company, managing a varied portfolio of clients.

Louise also has experience in graphic design, publicity, and web management as well as a keen interest in social media as a promotional tool. She is new to the world of school and educational learning and is looking forward to keeping everyone up to date with what we have on offer.